Re: No-Cost Webinar: Grief & Loss: Supporting Children Who Have Lost Parents Due to COVID-19

Please join The REACH Institute on Wednesday, May 19th at 4PM PST for an hour-long, no cost Q&A webinar, Grief & Loss: Supporting a Child Who Has Lost a Parent to COVID-19.

Participants will gain a broad understanding of traumatic grief, practical guidance for working with patients and strategies for parents/caregivers to support kids who may be struggling. See attached flyer for further details. To register & submit questions, visit: <http://bit.ly/REACH4May19>

It's estimated that 40,000 kids in the U.S. have lost a parent to COVID-19, a tragedy disproportionately impacting Black children. Kids who have lost parents in the pandemic are at higher risk for traumatic prolonged grief & depression, lower educational attainment, economic insecurity and accidental death or suicide. Grounded in the latest advancements in the field, this Q&A panel will provide a broad understanding of traumatic grief, practical guidance on how providers can work with their patients and strategies for parents/caregivers to connect and improve communication with children in the aftermath of death or while a family member is ailing.
